Tiger prowls inside vast BEML campus

Combing operation on; staff warned against moving alone

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (MTY&KS)- The Forest Department and security personnel are on high alert after a tiger was spotted inside the 500-acre BEML campus on the outskirts of the city in the early hours of yesterday.

Around 4 am, while patrolling Engine Section Road, BEML security personnel initially mistook the animal for a leopard. As they slowed their vehicle for a closer look, the tiger approached them, came alarmingly close and then disappeared into the bushes.

The security staff recorded the encounter on a mobile phone and alerted the company management, which subsequently informed the Forest Department.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

LABOUR OF LOVE: "I love work," wrote Jerome K Jerome in his Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow. "Come to my study and I'll show you loads and loads of work which I've collected over the years and which I can't bear to part with. I sit and stare at it fascinatedly for hours on end."

Had he been around today Jerome would have established kinship with India's bureaucracy, our all-pervasive babudom which shares with the English author an attachment to work, a love for labour so great that it cannot afford to part with it at any cost.

Just how great that love is has now been quantified in a report about a month-long 'Cleanliness Drive' of Govt. offices conducted in Oct.

According to the personnel Minister, Jitendra Singh, the sale of the scrap collected in the course of the drive generated nearly Rs. 800 cr., a financial engine of growth sufficient to buy seven Vande Bharat trains. The clearance of scrap, largely in the form of pending files and other paperwork, freed 233 lakh sq.ft. of office space.

The Union Minister said that in the past five years the special Campaign for Cleanliness, which was inaugurated in 2021, earned from the sale of scrap nearly Rs. 4,100 cr., a literally astronomical figure that he said was enough to fund "multiple" Chandrayaan moon missions.

The total space cleared came to 923 lakh sq.ft., an area that could accommodate a large mall or a similarly capacious building.

Our babus obviously are so fond of their files and other paperwork, all safely preserved and tied up with red tape, that they cannot bear to part with them until prodded to do so by Ministerial diktat.

Indeed the revenue so earned, presumably from the raddiwalla, will help in part to pay babu salaries, a consideration that might well induce them to become even more adhesive to their work.

The libertarian aphorism goes that that govt is best which governs least. A bureaucratic version of this could be that that babu works best who works least.

Ky. hunter declines call, wins $1.1M !

Kentucky: A Kentucky hunter passing the time in his deer stand by playing online lottery games said, rejecting a call from his son led to his winning a $1.1 million jackpot.

The McCreary County man told Kentucky Lottery officials he was waiting for some deer to show up when he decided to pass the time with lottery's Wolf Ridge Jackpots online game. "I'm in the deer stand, and I was sitting there and I thought, you know what, I'm going to try," he said. "I got on there & I won $1,500, and I added another $200 to my account."

The man said his game kept being interrupted by calls from family members. "It was making me mad because it was freezing up my phone from playing," he said. "Then my son tries to call, I decline it. And then it was the next thing I hit. The sound is kind of a rumbling sound, and I cannot play anymore. I'm like, 'There ain't no way,' and that is echoing through the woods."

The rumbling sound turned out to be the man scoring a $1.1 million prize on a $30 wager. The winner called his wife and sent her a photo to confirm his win.

When cows outnumber cars in M.G. Road Market area

Sir,

Anyone who has passed through the M.G. Road Market area in Mysuru lately may have noticed an unusual sight: There seem to be more domestic cows on the road than actual vehicles.

What used to be a bustling commercial stretch is increasingly becoming a resting spot for cattle, creating a curious — but sometimes chaotic — scene.

During peak hours, commuters often find themselves navigating around herds of cows that have made the road their own. While Mysuru has always had its share of free-roaming cattle, the recent surge in their numbers on major roads has raised concerns about traffic flow and public safety.

Motorists frequently slow down or swerve to avoid the animals, while pedestrians struggle to navigate crowded sections where cows linger near shops and stalls.

Residents and shopkeepers report that this issue has been steadily worsening over the past few months. Many express worry not just about congestion but also about the risk of accidents in such a busy marketplace.

The presence of cattle is undeniably woven into the cultural fabric of the city, but the situation on M.G. Road suggests an urgent need for better regulation and management.

As Mysore continues to grow, ensuring that its streets remain safe — for both people and animals — should be a priority for local authorities.

No talks on path to CESCK autonomy, says KDA Chairman

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (SPN&BS)- Chairman of Kannada Development Authority (KDA) Dr. Purushotham Bilimale, has observed that, there is no discussion yet on modalities to seek autonomous status for Centre of Excellence For Studies in Classical Kannada (CESCK), Mysuru.

Prof. Bilimale, spoke to media persons after participating in a meeting with Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, at the premises of CADA office, in the city yesterday.

There is no objection to seek autonomous status for CESCK, but there is no discussion on, the pragmatic reasons, on the basis of which, the status should be sought and reasons to prompt the deliberations in this regard, said Dr. Bilimale.

"CESCK was established in the year 2008 by Union Human Resources Department, with the sole motive of encouraging research, documentation, publicity and studies related to Kannada, along with identifying the aspects of classical language and acting as a bridge to study other classical languages. However, it may be difficult to function sans hurdles, without separating CESCK from Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL)," observed Dr. Bilimale.

The CESCK should give impetus to the publication of books, epigraphy, archaeology, study of ancient history and inter-classical researches. However, no such activities have been undertaken so far. Till the year 2019, there were hectic discussions on bifurcating CESCK from CIIL, but neither the State nor the Centre, chose to continue with the discussions, post Covid-19 pandemic, rued Dr. Bilimale.

He appealed the coordination of all by working as a team, to construct a new building for CESCK at 4.02 acres of land belonging to the University of Mysore, allotted by the Government and to tap more funds from the Central Government.

In his reply, MP Yaduveer said, he was in constant touch with the Union Minister to facilitate autonomy status for CESCK. Everyone should work as a team and the role and responsibilities of MP should be defined, he added.

CIIL Director Prof. Shailendra Mohan, Project Director of CESCK Prof. N.M. Talawar, KDA Member T. Gururaj, historian Prof. P.V. Nanjaraj Urs, Mysuru district Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Maddikere M. Gopal, pro-Kannada activists Arvind Sharma, Yamuna and others were present.

Death of security guard at Manasagangothri

Labour organisations demand justice for family members

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (GA&VNS)- The recent death of a security guard while on duty at Open Air Theatre in Manasagangothri has triggered protests from trade unions (labour organisations) in city.

Following this, trade union leader Chandrashekar Meti has warned of intensifying the protest by staging overnight dharna and also filing a complaint with the Lokayukta on Varsity authorities for failing to provide justice to the family of the deceased security guard.

Addressing the press persons, at Pathrakarthara Bhavan, here yesterday, Meti accused the University of being indulged in corruption and irregularities while appointing security guards at the University and demanded immediate measures to ensure the family of the deceased security guard was provided justice.

"The security guards, despite being unwell were being forced to report for work. They were also being denied the rightful leaves. The Varsity Registrar, who promised to provide justice to family, has failed to fulfil the same," he added.

Meti also alleged that the agencies were claiming the bill amount for 152 security guards while only 120 of them were actually working at the University. Though it was claimed that each of the security guards were paid Rs. 23,000 as monthly salary, they were only being paid a paltry sum of Rs. 12,000.

"The security agency has also dismissed six security guards for participating in the protests held recently," he said.

Hand in glove

Meti also accused the Security Supervisor and few University officials of being hand in glove with the vested interests, in siphoning crores of rupees from the University coffers.

Trade union leaders Ugra Narasimhegowda, Narayan, Shivanna, Shivakumar and security guards were present at the press meet.

Man sentenced to life for killing wife

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (KS)- The 5th Additional District and Sessions Court has sentenced a man to life imprisonment after he was found guilty of murdering his wife.

The man, who was convicted, is Kumar, a resident of Honnenahalli village in Periyapatna taluk.

Details: Kumar had married Prema of the same village 18 years ago. He used to always doubt his wife and harass her mentally and physically. The village elders had kept on advising him to lead a normal life.

On Nov. 22, 2023, Prema had gone to attend the marriage ceremony of her relative at Bylapura Temple in K.R. Nagar taluk and returned in the evening only to be assaulted by Kumar. On the same night, when Prema was sleeping, Kumar had strangled her to death with a towel.

Periyapatna Police, who had registered a case, conducted investigation and had submitted a charge sheet to the Court.

Judge K.N. Roopa, who took up the case, heard the arguments from both sides, found accused Kumar guilty of murdering his wife and sentenced him to life imprisonment besides imposing a fine of Rs. 1.25 lakh.

Public Prosecutor B.E. Yogeshwar argued on behalf of the Government.

Flyovers not the fix

Activists push for scientific study before flyover plans

Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Wadiyar making a point during a discussion on the proposed flyovers in Mysuru, at the MGP office in Yadavagiri, Mysuru, last evening as others look on.

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (SPN&BCT)- Traffic problems in Mysuru are mounting by the day and rushing to build flyovers is not a permanent cure for congestion. Instead, detailed studies on rising traffic density and meaningful alternative solutions are essential, said members of the Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP).

The Public Works Department (PWD) has been considering flyovers on two major stretches — JLB Road and Vinoba Road (Hunsur Road) — similar to Bengaluru, where flyovers have been used to tackle key bottlenecks.

A discussion on the pros and cons of the proposed flyovers was held last evening at the MGP office on Vivekananda Road, Yadavagiri, in the presence of Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar.

The MP said, "I do not oppose projects that suit Mysuru's environment and heritage. But I oppose unscientific ones. The Government recently announced the 'Greater Mysuru' plan for the city's development. I am not opposed to it, but there must be dialogue with the citizens. Only then can a project truly serve the people."

Need for a long-term solution

MGP Founder-President Bhamy V. Shenoy said that if traffic congestion exists on Mysuru-Hunsur Road, it must be addressed with proper, long-term solutions. "A flyover is not the answer," he asserted, adding that the Government has not even sought public opinion on the need for such a structure.

He further argued that launching major projects without understanding Mysuru's history and cultural character is inappropriate. He suggested that engineering colleges, especially those with Civil Engineering students, should be involved in preparing technical reports. The idea was accepted unanimously.

Steep penalties abroad

Members pointed out that traffic congestion is rising not just in Mysuru but across Bengaluru and other major Indian cities due to an explosion in vehicle numbers. Countries like Singapore and the USA have controlled traffic by strengthening public transport and imposing extremely heavy fines — sometimes 100 times more — on single-occupant vehicles. In India, they said, Governments are not even initiating such discussions.

In Singapore, if congestion increases and a lone driver uses a car, the fine is steep. Similar models exist in the USA. Members questioned why such measures cannot be implemented here instead of digging up every available stretch to build flyovers.

It was decided that a study on Mysuru's overall traffic issues and the proposed flyover will be conducted under the leadership of Dr. Mukesh, lecturer at Sri Jayachamarajendra College of Engineering (SJCE), who holds a Ph.D in traffic studies. A detailed report will be prepared.

Despite his busy schedule, MP Yaduveer Wadiyar arrived on time for the meeting, earning appreciation from MGP members for his punctuality.

The meeting was attended by Maj. Gen. (Retd.) S.G. Vombatkere, S. Shobhana, D.V. Dayananda Sagar, Nagabhushan, S.K. Dinesh, representatives from Vidyavardhaka, SJCE, GSSS, and lecturers from Vidyavardhaka Engineering College.

WORLD AIDS DAY ON DEC. 1

End AIDS by 2030

Are we marching in the right direction? Where's the last mile?

By Dr. S.N. Mothi
Chairman &
Founder Trustee,
Asha Kirana Charitable Trust
Hospital & Research Centre,
Mysuru

World Aids Day 2025 Theme:
'Moving Beyond'

Every year on 1st December, the world pauses to observe World AIDS Day — a moment to reflect on progress, confront the challenges ahead and renew our collective commitment to ending the HIV epidemic. But World AIDS Day 2025 arrives at a turning point unlike any before.

The Global Situation in 2024-25

Recent UNAIDS estimates highlight the challenges that persist:

- 40.8 million people were living with HIV globally in 2024
- 1.3 million people acquired HIV in 2024
- 630,000 people died from HIV-related causes in 2024

These numbers are a reminder that the HIV epidemic is far from over. Yet today, we also have more powerful tools than ever before: effective Antiretroviral Therapy (ART), prevention of parent-to-child transmission (PPTCT), pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP), and the global "Treat All" strategy, which ensures immediate access to treatment after diagnosis.

Thanks to these advances, people living with HIV can now lead long, healthy and productive lives — and ensure that future generations are born HIV-free.

Time to 'Move Beyond' Dependence

For decades, the global HIV response relied heavily on international donors and policy frameworks. But World AIDS Day 2025 calls for a shift — a move beyond dependency, beyond stigma, beyond fear.

We must acknowledge the extraordinary journey made in the fight against HIV:

- A time when clinicians watched helplessly as patients succumbed to AIDS has transformed into an era where treatment enables people to live long and independently.
- People living with HIV no longer need to "crib" or despair — Atmanirbharta (self-reliance) is now achievable.
- Community leadership has grown stronger, more innovative and more central to reaching those at greatest risk.

End AIDS

To end AIDS as a public health problem, we have robust medicines... we are thorough with our knowledge on strategies that make a tangible impact.

We need to step up our efforts with greater commitment and resolve to zero down on our agenda to end AIDS by 2030.

Stigma, discrimination, ostracization and criminalisation of commercial sex workers and IV drug users will marginalise and push them further into hiding.

Awareness and awakening efforts should continue to evolve with changing times and should not go into a complacent mode.

Test and treat strategy to start the Anti-Retroviral Treatment on the same day of diagnosis has improved life expectancy and quality of life after infection.

Adherence, adherence and adherence to treatment is of paramount importance to prevent resistance to medications. Developing resistance to medicines will leave behind limited choice of 2nd and 3rd line regimen.

In the initial years of AIDS pandemic we lost lives for non-availability of affordable treatment whereas we lose patients because of their non-adherence to regular treatment and follow up.

World AIDS Day 2025 is more than a commemoration — it is a call to move beyond fear, beyond dependency, beyond stigma. It is a call for courage, solidarity and self-reliance.

Because the fight against HIV has always been more than a battle against a virus — it has been a fight for human dignity, health and hope. And that fight continues — stronger than ever ■

Mysuru must blend heritage with urban growth: MCC Chief

MCC Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif inaugurating a workshop at Manasagangothri in city yesterday.

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (PM&BS)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif has called for preserving Mysuru's traditional architectural style and safeguarding the city's indigenous cultural identity.

He was speaking at a workshop titled 'From Royal Vision to Modern Urbanism: Heritage of Mysore,' organised jointly by the School of Planning & Architecture (SPA), University of Mysore (UoM) and the Institute of Town Planners, India (ITPI) - Karnataka Regional Chapter, Bengaluru and the Mysore Regional Centre.

The event held yesterday at Prof. K.S. Rangappa Auditorium, SPA, Manasagangothri, marked World Town Planning Day, World Urbanism Day and World Heritage Week.

Asif stressed that while modern architectural styles are essential, equal emphasis must be placed on retaining Mysuru's signature architectural character. Architecture, he said, should mirror the cultural identity of a society. Cities like Chandigarh, Delhi, Barcelona, the Netherlands and Germany stand as examples where heritage styles and urban planning principles are carefully conserved.

He also urged planning and architecture students to develop research-driven proposals for the city's future.

UoM Registrar M.K. Savitha, in her presidential address, noted that the foundations of modern Mysuru were laid by Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. She encouraged students and faculty to contribute to the city's development through rigorous research and well-grounded planning.

ITPI Mysuru Regional Chapter Convener Dr. B. Shankar observed that cities like Barcelona, Kyoto and London have achieved a balanced model of heritage conservation and modern urban development — an approach Mysuru must also adopt.

ITPI Karnataka Regional Unit Chairman K.N. Narayana Gowda, ITPI New Delhi Council Member S.B. Honnur, SPA Head M.C. Shashikumar, Director Dr. H.N. Nagendra, Prof. Pramod M. Gawari, ITPI Mysuru Regional Centre Secretary Dr. S. Yashaswini were present.

Cold mornings return; Mercury to drop further

BEATING THE CHILL: People warm themselves around roadside fires on Bogadi Road this morning as temperatures plunge across Mysuru.

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (BLU&BCT)- It's time to pull out warm layers as Mysuru and surrounding regions have begun to feel a noticeable dip in temperatures, prompting the need for cold-weather clothing, insulated wear and winter accessories.

The minimum temperature recorded in Mysuru and Chamarajanagar for the 24 hours ending 8.30 am today stood at 18°C, according to data from the University of Agricultural Sciences, Bengaluru, and the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) at the Organic Farming Research Station, Naganahalli.

Temperatures are expected to fall further between Dec. 1 and Dec. 3, settling between 16°C and 17°C, while the maximum temperature remains around 28°C.

Cyclone Ditwah approaching

Meanwhile, Cyclonic storm Ditwah has closed in on the Tamil Nadu–Puducherry coastline, triggering widespread rain across both regions.

A red alert has been issued for several parts of Tamil Nadu as the IMD has forecast extremely heavy rainfall. Due to the weather disturbance, authorities at Chennai Airport have cancelled around 47 flights — 36 domestic and 11 international.

Rain forecast

Partly cloudy conditions are expected in Mysuru, Kodagu, Hassan and Chikkamagaluru districts, while Shivamogga will continue to remain dry. Rainfall linked to the cyclone is forecast from Nov. 30 to Dec. 1, with chances of showers persisting until Dec. 5.

Light rain is likely in Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts. Continuous drizzle may occur in the border areas of Ramanagara, Bengaluru and Kolar adjoining Tamil Nadu. Other districts will experience cloudy skies.

From Nov. 30 and Dec. 3, most districts in the southern interior are expected to receive drizzles, with dry weather likely to return from Dec. 4. Ditwah is expected to weaken along the Andhra coast before drifting back towards the Tamil Nadu shoreline and eventually dissipating after Dec. 5.

Tiger prowls inside vast BEML campus

An ideal hunting ground: Tiger spotted 15 days ago

Villagers near the Chamundi Wildlife Rescue, Conservation and Rehabilitation Centre at Koorgalli — part of Mysuru Zoo — adjacent to the 500-acre BEML premises, claim they spotted the tiger nearly 15 days ago and had informed the Forest Department.

However, initial inspections at the time yielded no evidence. Now, with new sightings and CCTV footage, officials believe the earlier reports may indeed have been accurate.

The dense vegetation inside BEML supports a large population of wild boars, making it an ideal hunting ground. Officials suspect the tiger may have remained within the area over the past few weeks. Once camera traps capture clear images, the tiger's stripe pattern will be compared with the Forest Department's existing database. Preliminary checks of the mobile footage recorded by BEML staff show that the stripes do not match any known tiger, suggesting this may be an unregistered big cat. If confirmed, a new ID will be created for it. Should the tiger be identified as a new entrant, steps will be taken to safely capture and relocate it back into the wild, according to sources.

Last night, Forest officials inspected the BEML campus. While reviewing CCTV footage, they found two cameras that had clearly captured the tiger's movements.

Camera traps to be laid

With the presence of the big cat now confirmed, the Forest Department decided to install camera traps this evening to monitor its movement. The mud roads inside the campus will be sprayed with water so that the big cat's pug marks are visible to trace its movements.

BEML employees have been instructed to remain vigilant, avoid moving alone and refrain from recording videos on mobile phones for security reasons, as BEML is a Central Government undertaking.

Officials suspect tiger may have wandered in to hunt wild boars, which are plentiful within the 500-acre, vegetation-heavy premises.

The Forest Department has launched combing operations to track and capture the tiger. Yesterday afternoon, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) K. Paramesh, Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Ravindra, Range Forest Officer (RFO) Santosh Hugar and other officials visited the campus but were unable to locate the animal.

DCF Paramesh said they rushed to BEML immediately upon receiving alert and added that combing operations and installation of additional camera traps would continue today. Instructions have also been given to BEML staff regarding safety protocols. It may be recalled that about two months ago, a tigress and three cubs were spotted near Yelwal. A subsequent operation rescued one cub, but the tigress and two cubs could not be traced and are suspected to have moved towards the Arabbithittu Forest in Hunsur taluk.

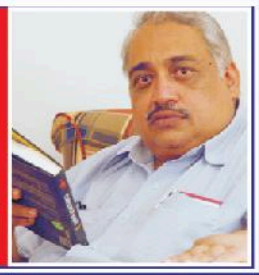
Over a cup of evening Tea

By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD



The Chamundi Hill Jinx

Our Chamundi Hill is undoubtedly the most imposing backdrop that lends a very unique and majestic look to our city. Being visible from far and wide and from all directions, its visibility heralds to all our guests and visitors that they have arrived at their destination.

And, to the many Mysureans like me, who venture out of our homes, as we often do, it tells us, as it looms into view, that we are back home, where we belong! Geologists say that this mound, yes, it is barely a mound in comparison to many other Hills and mountains, is much older than the mighty Himalayas.

And, to all those who look at it with belief, it is a divine destination too, being the seat of the temples that they seek to visit, with their sense of reverence and devotion. But over the recent years, this much visited Hill seems to be jinxed by some strange malady, stemming clearly from sheer human ineptitude and disregard for the sanctity and beauty of the place.

Although the whole Hill and its surroundings are designated as a plastic and litter free zone, we can see them both, in abundance, sadly, along with liquor bottles, at every nook and corner. And, the people and the authorities too are both culpable of being responsible for this desecration.

The Civic Authorities are just not doing their job of enforcing the ban, by levying stiff penalties on the offenders and the latter, undeterred and emboldened by this lack of enforcement, toss both their civic sense and their trash all over the countryside, with gay abandon!

The once clean and pristine environs of the temples atop the Hill too have been reduced to a very shabby state, with every inch of open space usurped, thanks to all the unauthorised shacks and shops that have been allowed to mushroom unchecked there. Because a great many of them sell eatables, they in turn contribute their share of garbage to the surroundings now.

The blocked laybys.

Our former Maharajas who made motorable approach roads to every nook and corner of the Hill, were so thoughtful that they have made at least a dozen large laybys, along all the roads there, where visitors could stop their vehicles and get a glimpse of the beautiful landscape all around the Hill from their points of vantage.

But this simple pleasure has now been taken away from us because we see boulders placed along every layby, blocking vehicular access to them. The result is that if people decide to park their vehicles briefly and get down to view the verdant countryside from those spots, they will end up blocking the road and putting others to inconvenience. It is difficult to say why this has been done and who is responsible for this thoughtless act.

When I spoke to a few of the staff members of the Forest Department whom I once met on the roadside there, they said that it was the handiwork of the contractor who had been given the rights to install a telescope half way up the Hill, to deny tourists a free view from the Hill and get them to have it only through his telescope, after paying a fee for it.

When I took up the matter with the man manning the telescope, he blamed the Traffic Police of doing it to deter people from crowding at the free viewpoints and blocking traffic. Not leaving the matter there, when I asked a senior Traffic Police Officer friend of mine if this was true, he smiled and said that his force was completely guiltless of this crime.

Now I stand perplexed and clueless about how those inanimate stones, on their own, could reach where they stand now! When a portion of the road leading to the huge stone bull, half way up the Hill, first suffered a landslide in October 2021, followed by two others, the Authorities announced that this problem would be set right very soon. But this 'very soon' seems to be taking forever, going by the slow pace of the progress of this work, if at all it is going on.

The Bull on the Hill.

The reason for the inordinate delay in the completion of this repair work is very unclear because this problem is certainly not beyond the abilities of our road engineers who routinely attend to such events across the length and breadth of our state.

It is common knowledge that landslides of a much greater magnitude occur regularly during every rainy season, along the Shiradi and Charmadi Ghat roads that connect our southern coastal areas with the rest of the State. Traffic that is disrupted as a result, is quickly restored each time and life quickly returns to normal for the road users and also for the people dwelling in the surrounding towns and villages.

What makes this restoration admirable is that it is routinely accomplished during the peak monsoon months, in pouring rain, across some very unstable and tricky terrain. But in the case of the Chamundi Hill, it is a relatively short stretch of road that has suffered a landslide, which we have not been able to set right, despite six full years having gone by.

This clearly indicates that there is an abysmal lack of will and sincerity in completing this work, just because it is not a much-travelled road and because no one is complaining.

The tens of thousands of devotees too, who visit the Hill throughout the year, seem to be content with being able to gain access to the Sri Chamundeshwari and the much older Sri Mahabaleshwara Temple atop the Hill and pay their respects to Goddess Chamundeshwari and Lord Shiva, without being perturbed by their inability to pay their respects to Lord Shiva's beloved bull, sitting alone and forlorn, in a remote corner of the Hill!

But although this spot is not much sought after by tourists and visitors, keeping the approach road to it in a usable condition and the whole Hill itself in its original, pristine state, is a very necessary exercise to maintain the image of our State.

Let us all remember and keep reminding ourselves from time to time, that like the many beautiful things we have here in our city, this Hill too is one of our most beautiful assets.

So, we Mysureans who take pride in our heritage and the beauty of our State, would do well to prevail upon the Authorities who seem to have turned a blind eye to an eyesore that can be set right in the blinking of an eye, to get into the act and set things right immediately!

One Nation, One Card...

New Smart Cards for DL, RC from Dec. 1: Transport Minister Reddy

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (PM&BS)- Transport Minister R. Ramalinga Reddy said, the new system of issuing Smart Cards with embedded chip and QR code, combining Driving Licence (DL) and Registration Certificate (RC), will be implemented from tomorrow (Dec. 1).

Ramalinga Reddy

Reddy, addressed media persons after chairing the progress review meeting of Regional Transport Office (RTO) and KSRTC Urban and Rural Divisions, at RTO-Mysuru West office in Chamarajapuram, yesterday.

"The State is implementing the new smart cart under 'One Nation One Card' effective from Dec. 1. We are not aware about other States, that have adapted to the new system, but we have been adopting the new system. Those interested to obtain the new type card, may return the old cards and avail the new cards, but it is optional. Those availing of DL and RC since Dec. 1 onwards, will be issued the newly designed card only," said Reddy.

Acknowledging that, a proposal has been received to set up an exclusive depot for Electric Vehicle (EV) buses at KSRTC depot in Bannimantap, Reddy said, the officers have been instructed to expedite the process. Besides, the instructions have been given to give priority for cleanliness at toilets in the bus stands.

"The new Centralised Bus Station at Bannimantap is being built at an estimated cost of Rs. 120 crore, with a deadline set to complete the works within 18 months. Four to five months are on, since the works have begun, which are expected to be completed during our term in office," claimed Reddy.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Additional Transport Commissioner M.P. Omkareshwari said, though the State has been issuing separate Smart Cards for DL and RC since 2009, the new cards are designed by the Central Government, under 'One Nation One Card' system.

On the collection of royalty so far by Transport Department, from April to October 2025, Omkareshwari said, royalty of Rs. 648 crore (63%) has been collected in Mysuru Division alone comprising RTO Mysuru West and East, Mandya, Hassan, Sakleshpur, Hunsur, Madikeri, Chamarajanagar, Gundlupet and Punanjur (inclusive of two depots).

During the same period, Rs. 15.17 crore has been collected as fine from violators of Transport Department rules.

Joint Commissioner of Transport, Mysuru Division, Vasanth Eshwar Chavan, RTO East Madhura, Deputy RTO Ramachandra and other officers were present.

Don't entertain middlemen: Minister warns RTOs

Transport Minister R. Ramalinga Reddy, has warned the RTO officers and staff, not to entertain middlemen and driving schools representatives at office. There is a trend of middlemen facilitating public works at RTOs, but the officers and staff should dissuade them. The RTOs have been providing all the 31 services online under Sakala system, so that the physical visits of the needy can be controlled. That apart, Reddy said, plan is on the anvil to identify sites for building four new bus stands at the Outer-Ring Roads (ORR), following the exponential growth of the city and the increasing demand for buses and trips.

True advocates are those who fight for the voiceless: HC Judge

Mysuru, Nov. 30 (GA&DM)- High Court Justice M.G. Uma said that those who fight for getting justice to the voiceless are the real advocates.

She was speaking at the Silver Jubilee celebration of 'Law Guide' Kannada Law magazine organised at Vijnana Bhavan in Manasagangothri campus here yesterday.

Maintaining that advocates have played a significant role in the freedom struggle, framing of the Indian Constitution and Government formation post-independence, Justice Uma had a word of advice for young advocates saying that they should not get disheartened for having lost a case. "The advocates should take defeat as a stepping stone to success. We too have come forward by accepting success and loss equally. Just as doctors treat patients with care, advocates too should treat their clients in the same manner", she noted.

Pointing out that there is a big fraternity behind the success of Law Guide Editor H.N. Venkatesh both as a Lawyer and Editor, she wished that this fraternity continue to support him in the same way in the future too. Justice Uma released the new year (2026) Law Guide calendar and Diary.

Former IGP D.N. Munikrishna in his address, regretted that we are forgetting our social commitments and our past history. Expressing displeasure over the tendency to become audacious upon getting higher education and fat pays, he said that the world today is moving along with technology. At the same time it is important to note that politics has become divergent, which is a matter of concern, Munikrishna noted. He warned against misusing freedom of expression in the name of Democracy.

Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL) Managing Director Mahesh, former Judges S.H. Raja Somashekar, Shashikala, C.G. Hungund, Basavaraj S. Sappannavar, S.H. WORD OF THE DAY

Exculpatory

Pronunciation: ek-SKUL-puh-tor-ee (adjective)
Meaning: Something described as exculpatory serves to prove that someone is not guilty of doing something wrong.
Origin: Exculpatory is the adjectival form of the verb exculpate, meaning "to clear from guilt." The pair of words cannot be accused of being secretive — their joint etymology reveals all: they are tied to the Medieval Latin verb exculpare, a word that combines the prefix ex-, meaning "out of" or "away from," with the Latin noun culpa, meaning "blame." The related but lesser-known terms inculpate ("to incriminate") and inculpatory ("implying or imputing guilt") are antonyms of exculpate and exculpatory. A related adjective, culpable, describes someone or something deserving of blame. All of these words are found most often in formal speech and writing, but if you choose to drop them into everyday conversation, your dictionary exculpates you.
Example: "That agreement also requires prosecutors to implement new policies to prevent the misuse of informants, maintain records and audits, and to disclose exculpatory evidence to criminal defendants involving snitches." — Salvador Hernandez, The Los Angeles Times, 18 Jan. 2025.

THE ODD WORD

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Baker's Dozen

Meaning: You use the term 'Baker's Dozen' to refer to thirteen of something.
Origin: "Throughout history, bakers have been subject to strict penalties for cheating their clients. To prevent accusations from flying, they often included a little extra, giving 13 loaves if 12 were ordered. The practice was common during the 12th century and probably originated before then.
Example: "I'll take a baker's dozen of those donuts, please."
